

Woo! I'm greenish and wearing nearly nothing! What I'm holding is really something! How many are there? -ARISTOTLE

Soldiers! I see you standing behind my horse, in your red and green. Some of you have spears, like mine. Raise them, I can only see the tips! You, with the sword - count the spears! And don't forget mine! -AGAMEMNON

Nice! This red background is so awesome! Perfect to set off wooden noggins! Look how many of us fit in here! -MUSSOLINI

Oh, it looks like I'm trapped in a bubble held by little angels. Everyone and everything is all green here. There are a number of people next to me, both sides, but they aren't helping me. -ELIZABETH

It is so lovely to fly by and see the mother and child, against a backdrop of a blue night sky spangled with stars. And such a quantity of beautiful pink roses surrounding us. -FERDINAND

Wow! So many of our believers below us in marble frames! Doing their human things! Sometimes with animals and tools, and on BOTH sides of this doorway! Can you count how many humans there are? -ANDROMEDA

This couch is really comfortable, so lovely for lounging on with a pet. Especially with a quantity of people below, including a tiny one, and I think some of them have ice cream cones. -ANTONINUS

Yeah! Feeling up a fellow angel's hip while they're reading! And there's musical accompaniment from more angels! And so many other angels in red and black, bet they're sneaking a peek! I wonder how many all together here by the Illuminati symbol? -ZECHARIAH

Forward! Let's get this procession going. Everyone in order, red capelets first, women at the end. All walking must be counted. -AUGUSTINE

Well, this is horrible. I'm covered in drops of blood. These scalloped shells won't provide protection from the devices behind me. The number of sharp points on the flail have all hurt me. -EDDINGTON

Oh, what a messy place we're in. Crowns, urns, animals, fruit, plants... All mixed together, all kinds of colours, together in one blue and yellow frame. The number of grape clusters and red strawberries together could be what we want. -ALEXANDRA

Holding a radiant child that is reaching for you is such a joy, not the least for a monk. Even lovelier when the child has a quantity of obvious rays of light shining from its head. -GARFUNKEL

Apostles! Look sharp, stand tall if you will, each of us under an arch with decorated columns. The floral decorations at each corner should be counted. -HAMMURABI

Being carried by a saint is wonderful, his robe feels nice to my young hands and the branch he has in his other hand smells lovely. There is even a quantity of pretty stars in his halo. -BEETHOVEN

How awful, a shipwreck. There isn't room in this rowboat for any more people. Maybe Mary or her child, who are above us, can help them. There is still a number of people left in the water. -FLORENCIA
